The Department of Sociology is supportive of including the courses listed below as electives for the “AI, Society and Decision Making” specialization in the proposed Bachelor of Science in Artificial Intelligence degree program:

- SOCY100 Introduction to Sociology (3 credits)
- SOCY 241 Inequality in American Society (3 credits)
- SOCY216 Social Aspects of Artificial Intelligence (3 credits)
- SOCY456 Smart Machines and Human Prospects (3 credits)
- SOCY462 Digital Technology and Society (3 credits)

We look forward to welcoming students from this exciting new program into our classrooms.

Sincerely,

Liana Sayer

Professor and Chair, Department of Sociology
